WILDY'S BOOK NEWS

Volume 20 Issue 6 Published Monthly

June/July 2015

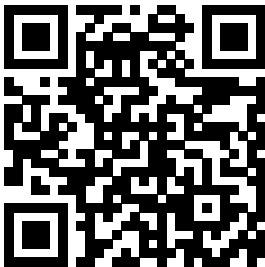

The team had a wonderful time in Brighton at the BIALL annual conference. See the pictures pp 3-4.

We have just had the very sad news of the passing of Wendy Barber of Sovereign Conferences, the organizers of the BIALL annual conference. Wendy was such a wonderful person and was always there to greet us with a smile and a joke at conference. Our thoughts and sympathies go out to Josh, Jennie and all her family friends and colleagues at this time.

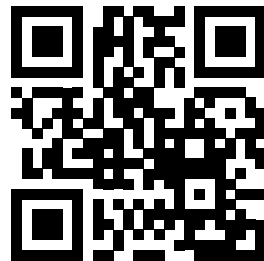

At the moment, John Pethick and Matthew Regnard are in Barbados attending the annual CARALL conference. Later this month Brian Hill will be in Philadelphia at the American Association of Law Libraries annual meeting. Be sure to drop by the ICLR at booth 211 and say hello.

The winner of our quiz, and the signed Paul Hollywood and Tom Kerridge cookbooks, was Mandy Webster of Browne Jacobson LLP. As this year is our 185th anniversary, our bookshop manager thought it would be interesting to see whether the staff's combined years of experience in law bookselling and publishing would equal the number of years we have been established in Lincoln's Inn Archway. The correct answer was 533 years! So considerably longer than the 185 years we have been in the Archway.

THE OLD MUNSTER CIRCUIT

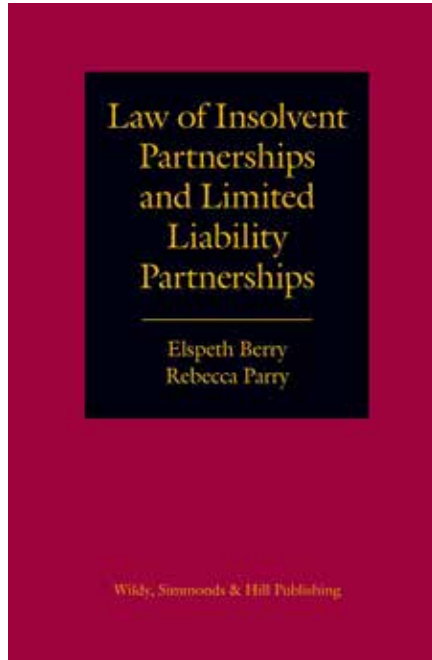

Maurice Healy

Price: £14.95
ISBN: 9780854901579
Extent: 280 pp
Binding: Paperback

The Old Munster Circuit, the legal memoirs of Maurice Healy, was first published in 1939 by Michael Joseph, and has reappeared in several editions over the last 75 years. It has been out of print in recent times and much sought after. These amusing memoirs affectionately describe the workings and people of the Munster Circuit, where Healy practised from 1910 to 1914. Healy goes to some length in trying to describe and explain his countrymen to an English audience:

The end of looseleaf filing??

As a junior bookseller many years ago nothing gave me more pleasure than getting off the shop floor for a couple of hours to do some looseleaf filing. However, I am probably in the minority in enjoying this and now there is a real alternative. LexisNexis have started releasing their looseleafs on the excellent LexisNote platform and there are far more benefits than just removing the need to manually file releases.

The main selling point I see for these looseleaf eBooks is that for every eBook subscription you will be able to have five users with their own copy of the work. That user can then have the work on up to four devices (work PC, laptop, home PC, iPad for example) and all their annotations, bookmarks and highlighting will synchronise between their devices.

If you haven't used the LexisNote Reader App you will find it very user-friendly and intuitive. Once a title is downloaded there is no need to be online so you can use the eBooks on the Underground as easily as you can in your office.

There are two ways to buy these works. You can either buy one subscription to the eBook version of the looseleaf for approximately the same amount of money that you would spend on the paper version in a year. Alternatively you can keep your hard copy subscription and add in an eBook subscription. This costs about 25% more than the price of the hard copy only.

For when you need information now

The prices below are for an annual subscription for both the Lexis Note eBook version and the hard copy plus the LexisNote version. If you require more than five users then you can add extra users for an additional 10% of the subscription cost per user.

REFLECTIONS ON THE SUPREME COURT OF GHANA

Samuel Kofi Date-Bah

JCL Studies in Comparative Law No. 14

Price: £65.00
ISBN: 9780854901562
Extent: 290 pp
Binding: Hardback

The book is intended to be a contribution to comparative knowledge on what a final and constitutional court's role and significance are to governance in a developing country. It provides a recently retired judge's insights into the substantive work and function of the Supreme Court in Ghanaian society and Ghana's legal and political system.

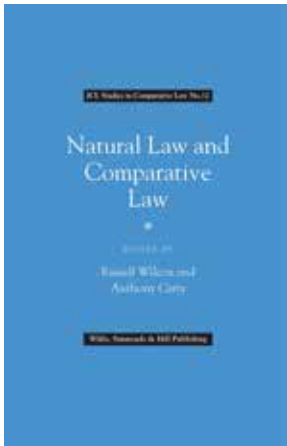

The book throws light on the role played by the Supreme Court in the development of Ghanaian law and the laying of the foundation for Ghana's constitutional democracy. The establishment of a constitutional democracy in Ghana has been an important factor in the nation's development and the Supreme Court has had an important role to play in this process. It will also be invaluable to both academic and practising lawyers, as well as at non-lawyers interested in the function and operations of the Supreme Court. The study of the Supreme Courts of emerging democracies should be given some emphasis in comparative law. It is hoped that the material contained in this book will contribute to the facilitation of such emphasis.

Justice Date-Bah was a member of the Supreme Court of Ghana from 2003 to 2013. Prior to that he was a Special Adviser (Legal) at the Commonwealth Secretariat in London. He had earlier been a law Professor at the Universities of Ghana, Nairobi and Calabar (Nigeria), with visiting appointments at Lincoln College, Oxford and the Yale Law School. He was educated at the University of Ghana, the Yale Law School and the London School of Economics. He was elected a Fellow of the Ghana Academy of Arts and Sciences in 2000. He is also a member of the International Academy of Commercial and Consumer Law and was a member of the UNIDROIT Working Group which formulated the UNIDROIT Principles of International Commercial Contracts. He has published extensively on Ghanaian law and international commercial law. Since retiring from the bench, he has continued to be Chairman of the Ghana Law Reform Commission, the Council of the University of Ghana and the Data Protection Commission of Ghana.

NATURAL LAW AND COMPARATIVE LAW

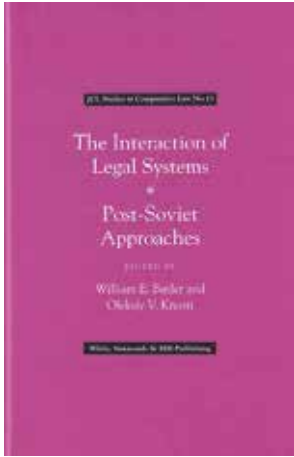

Russell Wilcox and Anthony Carty (editors)

JCL Studies in Comparative Law No. 12

Price: £65.00
ISBN: 9780854901548
Extent: 414 pp
Binding: Hardback

It has been a major contention of classical natural law theory that the arguments it makes, because rooted in a robust account of human nature, are of universal applicability. A somewhat less well explored dimension is the extent to which it can admit of, and indeed support, the great variations in human cultures, life-ways and patterns of social ordering. Despite this fact, however, there is much to suggest that it is possessed of theoretical resources uniquely well adapted to maintaining a balance between unity and diversity in each of these areas. In consequence, although the disciplines of natural law and comparative law have long tended to be treated as essentially immiscible, there is much to suggest that this may not be the whole story and that an exploration of how they can be brought together holds out the promise of making real theoretical advances in each. It is in this spirit that the present volume collects together essays from a variety of scholars with interests in various aspects of classical natural law theory and comparative legal studies as a way of beginning what the editors hope will become a fruitful and, in time, much wider conversation.

THE INTERACTION OF LEGAL SYSTEMS Post-Soviet Approaches

William E. Butler and Oleksiy V. Kresin (editors)

JCL Studies in Comparative Law No. 13

Extent: 538 pp
Binding: Hardback

Particular attention is given to social law doctrine, procedural comparative jurisprudence, comparative international law, the theory of open law, legal transplants, legal acculturation, traditional, continental, Latin American, Islamic, Hindu, Confucian, and mixed legal systems.

The Editors:

William E. Butler is the John Edward Fowler Distinguished Professor of Law and International Affairs at the Pennsylvania State University; Emeritus Professor of Comparative Law, University of London; Foreign Member, National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine and the National Academy of Legal Sciences of Ukraine; Associate, International Academy of Comparative Law.

DRINK AND DRUG DRIVE CASE NOTES

P M Callow

Price: £69.00
ISBN: 9780854900756
Extent: 691pp
Binding: Hardback

Many thousands of people are prosecuted each year for drink and drug driving offences. The legislation favours the prosecution in a number of ways, for example, by requiring those under investigation to give evidence against themselves in the form of specimens of breath, blood or urine, but also affords certain safeguards to suspects. The conviction rate is exceptionally high, and the provisions have given rise to a wealth of case law.

Drink and Drug Drive Case Notes comprises summaries of the many cases on drink driving, and the fewer cases on drug driving, which have come before the High Court, the Court of Appeal, the House of Lords and, in one instance, the Supreme Court. Over six hundred judgments are summarised. Each note is presented as a short statement of the facts of the case, the question(s) put to the appeal court and an extract from the judgment. The notes are intended to provide a broad outline of the trends in the case law and as starting points for readers seeking guidance on particular issues.

This third edition includes notes of some seventy-five cases decided since the second edition was published. Themes running through the new cases include the interpretation of the provisions on reasonable cause to believe that the breath analysis device has not produced a reliable indication of the suspect's breath alcohol level, and on the application of the Criminal Procedure Rules to proceedings for drink and drug driving. At the time of publication, the so-called "statutory option" has just been removed, and section 5A of the Road Traffic Act 1988, creating new offences of driving, attempting to drive, and in charge, with a concentration of a specified controlled drug above a specified limit, has come into force. The offences are framed in much the same terms of the excess alcohol offences, but testing will be by the analysis of blood or urine only. While much of the case law concerning drink-driving will be relevant, the new provisions will no doubt give rise to their own body of case law in due time.

Drink and Drug Drive Case Notes was first published, as Drink Drive Case Notes, as a product of collaboration between Lion Laboratories – the manufacturers of much of the breath-testing equipment used in the UK and throughout the world – and the author. This expanded and updated edition of Drink and Drug Drive Case Notes will prove a useful reference for police, prosecutors, defenders and legal advisers.

"As a reference guide, this is an extremely helpful addition to a legal adviser's kitbag."

The Justices' Clerk, of the first edition

"[A]n extremely useful complement to any standard text book on drink driving matters. I would commend it not only to defence lawyers but also to those who prosecute in this area of law."

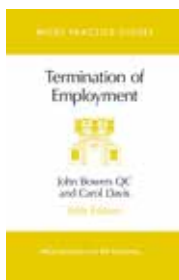

Solicitors Journal, of the second edition
