

A large, detailed model of a wooden sailing ship is the central focus, positioned in a paved courtyard. The ship has two masts and is surrounded by a low stone wall. In the background, a multi-story building with a curved facade and white railings on its balconies is visible. The building's architecture features large, light-colored columns and a mix of stone and concrete materials. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

MAJOR NEW TITLES THIS MONTH

Aicher, Josef; Kussbach, Erich; Reinisch, August, Decisions of the Arbitration Panel for In Rem Restitution: Volume 3, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £68.00, ISBN: 9781849461115

The series "Decisions of the Arbitration Panel for In Rem Restitution" documents one of Austria's most recent compensation measures dealing with the consequences of the National Socialist era. For property which was seized during the National Socialist era and is now publicly owned, the possibility of in rem restitution was provided for in the Washington Settlement Agreement of 17 January 2001. The Arbitration Panel for In Rem Restitution, established with the General Settlement Fund in Vienna, decides on applications for restitution. For the most part, the applications concern real estate that was confiscated between 1938 and 1945, was publicly owned on the Agreement cut off day (17 January 2001) and in many cases had already been the subject of restitution proceedings after 1945. Since 2003, the Arbitration Panel has decided on a great number of applications and has recommended the restitution of property to the legal successors of former owners in several cases. In the course of these decisions based on the General Settlement Fund Law, the Arbitration Panel has developed a complex case law. Volume 3 contains twelve decisions of the Arbitration Panel from 2006, each in the German original and with the English translation.

Arshad, Raffia, Islamic Family Law, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £87.00, ISBN: 9781847035998

Islamic Family Law is a practical book, which assists practitioners in meeting the needs of clients who wish to follow Muslim (Shar'ia) law - how to proceed with a case, what examples to cite and the most appropriate course of action. The book deals with the issues considered by the Shar'ia council including marriage and divorce, but will also include issues such as forced marriages and adoption, which are issues currently being dealt with at local authority level. Islamic Family Law explains the overlap with English law and provides a comprehensive explanation of the remedies

Bradley, A.W.; Ewing, K.D., Constitutional and Administrative Law 15th ed., Pearson Education Ltd, Paperback, £35.99, ISBN: 9781405873505

Written by two experts in the field, Constitutional and Administrative Law is highly regarded for its comprehensive and authoritative coverage of this rapidly changing area of the law. In the new fifteenth edition, the authors analyse changes while maintaining a focus on essential legal principles bringing detailed analysis and illuminating insight to students of constitutional and administrative law.

Buckett, Edwin; Little, Tom; McAllister, Robert, Preventative Orders: A Practical Guide, Law Society Publishing, Paperback, £49.95, ISBN: 9781853287893

This practical and comprehensive guide is essential for all practitioners advising or representing organisations or individuals when obtaining or resisting preventative orders applied for in the High Court, County Court, Crown Court or Magistrates Court. With a wide range of preventative orders now placing significant restrictions on an individual, this new book comprehensively deals with them collectively in one handy volume.

Busche, Jan; Trimborn, Michael; Fabry, Bernd, Patent Infringement Worldwide: Claim Interpretation, Infringement, Damages, Carl Heymanns Verlag KG, Hardback, £125.00, ISBN: 9783452267290

When assessing open questions of patent law with an international dimension, national courts often look to the legal situation and judicature of other states. Scholars have always considered comparative studies of law to be most instructive and this applies all the more to patent law on an international level, as is evidenced by numerous studies and publications. The object of this book is to give an overview of the core aspects of substantive patent law in the most important industrial nations of the world so that they can be compared with one another.

Capling, Ann; Low, Patrick, Governments, Non-State Actors and Trade Policy-Making: Negotiating Preferentially or Multilaterally?, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £29.99, ISBN: 9780521165617

This book addresses the issue squarely through case studies of trade policy-making and forum choice in eight developing countries: Chile, Colombia, Mexico, South Africa, Kenya, Jordan, Indonesia and Thailand. The case studies are based on original research by the authors, including interviews with state and non-state actors involved in the trade policy-making process in the eight countries of this study.

Carlarne, Cinnamon P., Climate Change Law and Policy: EU and US Perspectives, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £60.00, ISBN: 9780199553419

This book suggests that the overall structures and processes of climate change law and policy-making in the US and the EU are intricately linked to international policy-making and, thus, the long-term success of global efforts to address climate change. Accordingly, the book analyses the content and process of climate change law and policy-making in the US and the EU to reveal policy convergences and divergences, and to examine how these convergences and divergences impact the ability of the global community to structure a sustainable, effective and equitable long-term climate strategy.

Chern, Cyril, The Law of Construction Disputes, Informa Publishing, Hardcover, £290.00, ISBN: 9781843119012

This book provides both the research and history along with the principles governing construction disputes. The difficulties that arise along with their interpretation by the courts are fully explained. It is an easily accessible text covering both the history of construction disputes and their resolution both through the common law, civil and Sharia law along with all current relevant legislation, case law and standard forms such as the JCT, NEC3 and FIDIC Conditions of Contract.

Cremer, Hans-Joachim, Human Rights and the Protection of Privacy in Tort Law: A Comparison between English and German Law, Routledge-Cavendish, Hardback, £80.00, ISBN: 9780415477048

The German law of privacy has quite a long history, and the influence of the European Court of Human Rights' interpretation of the ECHR has led to a strengthening of privacy protection in the German law. This book considers how English courts could possibly use and adapt structures adopted by the German legal order in response to rulings from the European Court of Human Rights, to strengthen the protection of privacy in the private sphere.

Cunneen, Chris; Hoyle, Carolyn, Debating Restorative Justice, Hart Publishing, Paperback, £15.00, ISBN: 9781849460224

Carolyn Hoyle argues that communities and the state should be more restorative in responding to harms caused by crimes, antisocial behaviour and other incivilities. She supports the exclusive use of restorative justice for many non-serious offences, and favours approaches that, by integrating restorative and retributive philosophies, take restorative practices into the 'deep end' of criminal justice. While acknowledging that restorative justice appears to have much to offer in terms of criminal justice reform, Chris Cunneen offers a different account, contending that the theoretical cogency of restorative ideas is limited by their lack of a coherent analysis of social and political power. He goes on to argue that after several decades of experimentation, restorative justice has not produced significant change in the criminal justice system and that the attempt to establish it as a feasible alternative to dominant practices of criminal justice has failed.

Dabbah, Maher, International and Comparative Competition Law, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £45.00, ISBN: 9780521736244

This thorough appraisal of competition law and policy from an international and comparative perspective covers the role of different international organisations active in the area, the significance of multinational enterprises and, in particular, the differences between US and EU systems. Taking examples from regions such as Africa, the Middle East and Asia, Maher M. Dabbah looks at the law and policy in developing countries and at a regional level, the internationalisation of competition law and the doctrines of extraterritoriality, bilateral cooperation and multilateral cooperation as well as the relationship between competition and trade policy.

Dignam, Alan; Lowry, John, Core Text Series: Company Law 6th ed., Oxford University Press, Paperback, £24.99, ISBN: 9780199577019
Company Law gives an authoritative and accurate account of the key principles and demystifies this complex area of the law without oversimplification. Chapter introductions orientate readers with the various aspects of company law and further reading provides the tools for further research and study. Self-test questions are an invaluable aid to reinforcing learning and supporting revision and will assist with examination recall.

Fenwick, Helen; Phillipson, Gavin, Text Cases and Materials Public Law and Human Rights 3rd ed., Routledge-Cavendish, Paperback, £37.99, ISBN: 9780415462143

Text, Cases and Materials on Public Law and Human Rights aims to provide the reader with a comprehensive collection of materials placed in the context of a simple, clear narrative which is designed to map on to any UK undergraduate public law course. Helen Fenwick & Gavin Phillipson's detailed commentary seeks to incorporate questions designed to provoke a critical and sceptical approach to the conventional legal order.

Forowicz, Magdalena, Reception of International Law in the European Court of Human Rights, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £80.00, ISBN: 9780199592678

This book evaluates how international law has been integrated into the ECHR system. It also examines whether the Court has been able to create a coherent and comprehensive approach to the interpretation and evaluation of international law. The policy decisions and other factors which have given rise to this approach are elu-

Johns, Fleur; Joyce, Richard; Pahuja, Sundhya, Events: The Force of International Law, Routledge, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN:

9780415554527
Events: The Force of International Law presents an analysis of international law, centred upon those historical and recent events in which international law has exerted, or acquired, its force. From Spanish colonization and the Peace of Westphalia, through the release of Nelson Mandela and the Rwandan genocide, and to recent international trade negotiations and the ‘torture memos’, each chapter in this book focuses on a specific international legal event. Short and accessible to the non-specialist reader, these chapters consider what forces are put into play when international law is invoked, as it is so frequently today, by lawyers, laypeople, or leaders.

Jorgensen, Jacob, Delay Clauses in International Construction Contracts, Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £116.00, ISBN: 9789041126726
In this book well-known practitioners from twelve countries that attract large-scale international construction projects describe and analyse the interpretation and application of delay clauses under the laws of their respective countries. In addition, each author includes a brief description of the construction law environment in his or her country and highlights pitfalls and advantages to be aware of when dealing with a standard construction contract, such as the FIDIC Red Book, in that country. As an eminently practical guide to relevant local law for project managers, engineers, consultants and others concerned in the administration and planning of major construction projects, this book will prove to be a very welcome resource. It will also be very helpful to legal advisors involved in the drafting and negotiation of major international construction contracts and/or in dispute resolution proceedings.

Lachs, Manfred, The Law of Outer Space: An Experience in Contemporary Law-Making: Reissued on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the International Institute of Space Law, Brill Academic Publishers, Hardback, £85.00, ISBN: 9789004186675

It is a remarkable achievement to write a book that almost four decades after its publication has lost virtually none of its relevance. Manfred Lachs' famous treatise on the Law of Outer Space was originally published in 1972, yet it is still a classic and must-read text for space law students today, even though copies can nowadays be rarely found. The reissue of this remarkable work is therefore timely indeed. Its aim is to make the brilliance, foresight and clarity of Lachs' thinking once more easily accessible to a new generation of scholars. Issued on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the International Institute of Space Law, of which Lachs was President, this volume reproduces the original text of Lachs' work in full, with a new preface, introduction and index supplied by the editors.

Lawson, Gary; Miller, Geoffrey; Natelson, Robert; Seidman, Guy, The Origins of the Necessary and Proper Clause, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 9780521119580

Through three independent lines of research, the authors trace the lineage of the Necessary and Proper Clause to the everyday law of the Founding Era - the same law that American founders such as Madison, Hamilton, and Washington applied in their daily lives. Origins of the Necessary and Proper Clause are found in law-governing agencies, public administration, and corporations. This book serves as a reference source for scholars seeking to understand the intellectual foundations of one of the US Constitution's most important clauses.

Levit, Nancy; Linder, Douglas O., The Happy Lawyer: Making a Good Life in the Law, Oxford University Press USA, Hardback, £12.99, ISBN: 9780195392326

This book not only sheds light on why so many lawyers find so little to like about their jobs, but also explores what they can do about the problem. Drawing on recent psychological research on happiness, Nancy Levit and Douglas Linder highlight various factors that contribute to professional stress and frustration--from pressure to increase the number of billable hours to discontents that occur when the job's demands fail to mesh with a lawyer's personal values or aspirations. They offer an array of coping tools, both large and small, that will help attorneys find more balance in their lives; they also suggest ways that law firms can be more flexible to accommodate their employees' needs, thus boosting morale and, in the process, producing higher-quality work. The authors also show how law students can better define their goals to ensure a satisfying career.

Lawrence, Ivan, My Life of Crime: Cases & Causes, The Book Guild Ltd, Hardback, £17.99, ISBN: 9781846244674

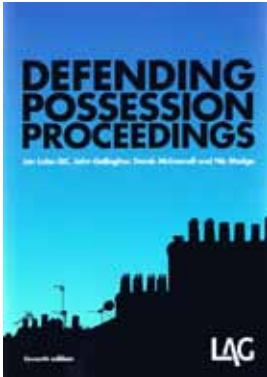

From humble beginnings in Brighton in the 1930s, Ivan Lawrence has had an amazingly varied and interesting life. Knighted in 1992, Sir Ivan Lawrence QC MP tells the story of his life of crime with extraordinary humility and humour, even when recounting his part in gruesome murder trials, and is passionate in his defence of the independent self-employed Bar within the legal aid system, now under threat. Alongside this tale runs the story of his life as an MP, giving a fascinating insight into life in the Commons under the leadership of Margaret Thatcher. He shows how politics and the law so often inter-relate and sometimes converge, as when he takes part as a defender in a war crimes trial at The Hague, following the war in the former Yugoslavia, and is involved in observing the birth of the first black government in South Africa.

McAdam, Jane, Climate Change and Displacement: Multidisciplinary Perspectives, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £45.00, ISBN: 9781849460385

This book brings together a variety of disciplinary perspectives on the phenomenon of climate-induced displacement. With chapters by leading scholars in their field, it collects in one place a rigorous, holistic analysis of this phenomenon, which can better inform academic understanding and policy development alike. Governments have not been prepared to take a leading role in developing responses to the issue, in large part due to the absence of strong theoretical frameworks from which sound policy can be developed.

McGowan, Lee, The Antitrust Revolution in Europe: Exploring The European

Commission's Cartel Policy, Edward Elgar Publishing Limited, Hardback, £65.00, ISBN: 9781847201461

This insightful and original book considers the evolution, aims and developments of EU antitrust policy, and focuses on the way in which the European Commission has sought to combat cartels. Lee McGowan expertly explores the European Commission's cartel policy by examining competition policy from a politics/public policy perspective, and discusses the actors, ideas and policy developments involved. This topical study of EU cartel policy provides a fascinating account of supranational governance in action as the Commission looks for increasingly imaginative means to detect, unearth and penalize cartel offenders, through new regulations and strategic policy choices. The author traces the evolution of the European approach to cartels from 1870 with a major focus on the developments after 1945, especially the institutional architecture and policy advancements.

Weller, Mark, Iraq and the Use of Force in International Law, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £19.99, ISBN: 9780199595303
The prohibition of the use of force is one of the most crucial elements of the international legal order. Our understanding of that rule was both advanced and challenged during the period commencing with the termination of the Iran-Iraq war and the invasion of Kuwait, and concluding with the invasion and occupation of Iraq. This book analyzes these developments, and their impact on the rule prohibiting force in international relations, in a comprehensive and accessible way. It is the first to draw upon classified materials released by the UK Chilcot inquiry shedding light on the decision to go to war in 2003 and the role played by international law in that context.

of measures intended to reduce environmental or health risks.

Zedalis, Rex J., Claims Against Iraqi Oil and Gas: Legal Considerations and Lessons Learned, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £50.00, ISBN: 9780521193504

This volume presents the first and only comprehensive examination of the legal issues surrounding international debt recovery on claims against Iraqi oil and gas. In addition to presenting a snapshot view of Iraq's outstanding debt obligations and an analysis of the significance of the theory of odious debt in the context of the Iraqi situation, the list of legal issues examined includes relevant provisions of the Iraqi Constitution of 2005, controlling Security Council resolutions, pertinent articles of the KRG oil and gas law (No. 22) of 2007 and the many nuanced and technical questions raised thereby, legal pronouncements aimed at protecting Iraqi oil and gas and those adopted in selected other nations, and general problems associated with recognition and enforcement of awards or judgments that may involve such oil and gas or revenues from the sale thereof.

To our best knowledge, all particulars are correct at the time of going to press. However, we regret that we cannot accept responsibility for any errors, and wish to advise readers that price and date of publication may be subject to change by the publishers concerned

THE ZURICH OPENWORK FOUNDATION CARES 4 KIDS CYCLE CHALLENGE 2010

Grinding My Beans in Costa Rica!

Slightly against my better judgment I have once again signed up for another charity cycle challenge to raise money for children both in the UK and around the world. This year, we are off to Costa Rica on the 1st of November for a 5 day 348km cycle challenge.

It's going to be a tough one, with many hills and a great deal of off roading, but at my time of life I need the exercise!

Thanks to my sponsors, I have personally raised more than £28,000 over the past few years for the benefit of poor children throughout the world. Our group of happy cyclists have raised over £750,000 since I first became involved with these cycle challenges, which makes all the effort of training and 5 continuous days of cycling in often hot and difficult conditions really worthwhile.

This year my kind sponsors include Kluwer Law International, Jordan Publishing, Legastat, Oxford University Press, Bloomsbury Professional (Tottel) and of course Wildy & Sons and their advertisements are included within these pages. Upon my return from the challenge, there will be a full pictorial account of the epic challenge and further opportunities for sponsorship within the Wildy's Book News.

If you are a company that would like to place a sponsorship advertisement, please contact Brian Hill at enquiries@wildy.com

On behalf of the Zurich Foundation* Cares 4 Kids charity, I thank you!

IMPORTANT FORTHCOMING PUBLICATIONS

Drafting Employment Contracts 2nd edition

by Gillian Howard

Law Society Publishing,
Paperback, ISBN
9781853287206, due
October 2010, £99.95

Drafting Employment Contracts provides tried and tested guidance and clauses to help practitioners save time and money. This invaluable book offers practical and thorough coverage. Each chapter examines a specific area of interest, offering: Introductory commentary, discussion of relevant case law, practical guidance on when and how to use particular clauses, the text of key clauses and, where appropriate, full contracts within the book and on the accompanying FREE CD-ROM. Full updated, this second edition includes new chapters focusing on alternative dispute resolution and redundancy. It offers additional contracts for, amongst others, surveillance staff, self-employed contractors, and agency staff and considers new case law such as Cheltenham v. Laird and Keen v. Commerzbank. It takes account of legislative changes made by the Employment Act 2002, Equality Act 2010, and Bribery Act 2010 and covers changes to policies and procedures relating to compensation, benefits, grievances, disciplinary cases and harassment.

Trust Protectors

by Andrew Holden and David Brownbill

Jordan Publishing, Hardback,
ISBN 9781846612527, due
October 2010, £95.00

This new definitive work on trust protectors explains the role and appointment of a protector, their powers and duties including fiduciary capacity, how a protector can be removed from office and the relationship with the trustees. It will cite authorities from various jurisdictions including: Australia, Bahamas, BVI, Canada, Cayman Islands, Cook Islands, England and Wales, Guernsey, Isle of Man, Jersey, New Zealand and the USA. In addition precedents are included which will assist with drafting protector clauses in trust documents.

Immigration Law Handbook 7th edition

by Margaret Phelan and James Gillespie

Oxford University Press, Paperback, ISBN 9780199595648, due November 2010, £65.00

Now in its seventh edition, the Immigration Law Handbook continues to bring together all the key materials relevant to Immigration and Asylum Law in one volume, providing an essential reference tool for those working in the area. This new edition addresses key changes that have arisen from the implementation of the Borders, Citizenship and Immigration Act 2009 as well as substantial changes to the Immigration Rules by way of the latest phase of the "Points-Based System". It also covers the UN Convention on Rights of the Child, which has been ratified in the UK since the last edition, as well as new secondary legislation implementing both the 2009 Act and previous legislation, including new appeals procedures. This coverage of recent new legislation sits usefully alongside existing important legislation to maintain the strengths of the handbook as a reference tool whilst bringing the reader up-to-date with all new developments. The Immigration Law Handbook has established itself as the standard in the field and has become an invaluable resource for immigration practitioners including Asylum and Immigration Tribunal judges and barristers, and solicitors and caseworkers working in immigration, asylum, and human rights law.

Oil and Gas Law in the UK

by Moe Alramahi, John Karlberg and Leon Moller Bloomsbury Professional,
Paperback, ISBN
9781847665553, due
October 2010, £55.00

The UK oil and gas industry has evolved at unprecedented speed over the past four decades. It has attracted a great deal of attention from a range of industry players and regulators throughout the world. This is largely because the petroleum industry brings together the most powerful public and private actors in the form of states and trans-national corporations.

Oil and gas law has the task of arranging the resultant relationships and of ensuring that the legitimate interests of all actors are protected. In so doing, the law is required to take cognisance of (among other things) the physical characteristics of oil and gas, their pervading influence on modern society, and the considerable public interest surrounding the way in which these natural resources are exploited. The purpose of this book is to equip the wide range of players in the oil and gas industry, and policy makers, researchers, academics and students with up-to-date knowledge of this rapidly changing field. The book is written to provide an overview of the central legal issues in the UK oil and gas industry today, and an understanding of its key actors, their roles and interests. It also aims at exploring key issues and emerging trends in oil and gas contracting. Oil and Gas Law in the UK provides the reader with effective and practical ways of approaching oil and gas legal issues, and is the first student textbook of its kind in the market, relevant to both undergraduate and postgraduate law students. It provides a concise and reader-friendly approach to the subject.

The Law of Reinsurance in England and Bermuda 3rd edition

by Terry O'Neill and Jan Woloniecki
Sweet & Maxwell, Hardcover,
ISBN 9781847035554, due
October 2010, £320.00

This authoritative text provides definitive guidance on the substantive law and practice in this complex area, covering the law in both the major reinsurance centres: London and Bermuda. It analyses the underlying general principles of reinsurance and examines reinsurance agreements and their relation to the original insurance contract. Particular types of reinsurance agreement, such as marine and financial, are covered, and it considers intermediaries and all relevant areas of agency law. The new edition deals with the procedure of reinsurance litigation and arbitration, and looks at conflict of laws issues in reinsurance disputes. The book incorporates recent case law; covers reinsurance and insolvency, and discusses the regulation of reinsurance.

Butterworths In-House Lawyer's Handbook

by Ian Jones
LexisNexis Butterworths,
Paperback, ISBN
9781405755504, due
November 2010, £59.00

Butterworths In-House Lawyer's Handbook is the first and only text to bring together all the practical guidance, precedents, expert commentary and key source material for the in-house law department. In-house lawyers in all types of institutions will benefit from the insights Ian Jones's commentary provides. The book covers all the key planks of the internal legal advisors' role, from managing a legal team to handling the procurement process. In today's world, In-house counsel in businesses and the public sector are expected to have a thorough understanding of the aims and activities of their institution, and relate that understanding in the advice they give their employer. Aside from this requirement, the in-house lawyer needs a high level understanding of a range of legal issues in multiple jurisdictions and know how to access that information quickly. This book assists that by providing key precedents and accessible information on a range of the most common issues in core jurisdictions.

A Practical Approach to Landlord and Tenant 6th edition

by Simon Garner and Alexandra Frith

Oxford University Press, Paperback, ISBN 9780199589197, due November 2010, £49.95

This concise and readable title explains the fundamentals of landlord and tenant law. While the sheer bulk of legislation applying to this area of law can appear intimidating, A Practical Approach to Landlord and Tenant provides a systematic guide to the principles and practice of land and property law which is ideal for student and practitioner alike. The book covers the basics of landlord and tenant law providing extensive treatment for both the common law and the statutory codes, and explaining and analyzing such diverse areas as leases, tenancy, assignment and subletting, agricultural holdings, business tenancies, and possession proceedings. The sixth edition has been comprehensively updated to cover all recent developments in landlord and tenant law. It includes coverage of all relevant case law and sets out the various statutory codes applying to both residential and business tenancies, highlighting key points. This edition considers the impact of the Housing and Regeneration Act 2008 on residential tenancies and also contains increased coverage of Tenancy Deposit Schemes, Human Rights Act challenges and disability discrimination. Very much a practical guide, this title makes frequent use of examples, checklists, forms and precedents, and is specifically designed to assist the busy professional and student. A Practical Approach to Landlord and Tenant is an indispensable resource for those working in this field.

Knowles on Local Authority Meetings: A Manual of Law and Practice 6th edition

by Stephen Taylor and Deborah Upton

ICSA Publishing, Paperback, ISBN 9781860724398, due October 2010, £99.95

Previous editions of this work have established Knowles as the authority on the law and practice of local authority meetings and decision-making. Local government has undergone a process of modernisation over recent years, starting with the Local Government Act 2000 and the establishment of the new systems of local government decision-making. The book provides an analysis of the framework within which local authority meetings are held, the rights and duties of members, officers and the public at meetings and the practical conduct of meetings. This new edition has been updated to include new regulations on individual ward member delegation, the impact of recent case law. Powers to Petition and a Councillor Call for Action will be introduced shortly. New scrutiny powers are in progress and all this will have a significant impact on the scope and ambit of decision-making and the practice and procedure involved. Featured throughout are relevant case histories and illustrations of model documents and procedures. An extensive list of appendices providing reference to key codes, notices and regulations is also included.

Advertising Law and Regulation 2nd edition

by Giles Crown, Oliver Bray and Rupert Earle

Bloomsbury Professional, Hardback, ISBN 9781845924515, due October 2010, £125.00

This invaluable guide focuses specifically on advertising law and the myriad rules controlling the advertising industry. It covers all aspects of the law as it affects advertising, from European legislation and copyright law to libel and obscenity laws. It clearly explains the laws, statutes and self-regulatory codes that govern advertising and there are sections given to the specific issues affecting television, radio and cinema. The new second edition takes on a more practical and user-friendly structure, with updated and expanded coverage of contract law, breach of confidence, copyright and data protection.

Russell-Clarke & Howe on Industrial Designs 8th edition

by Martin Howe QC

Sweet & Maxwell, Hardcover, ISBN 9781847038913, due October 2010, £235.00

Designs are protected in the UK by a wide range of legal rights covering different types of designs. Changes in design law resulting from EU single market harmonization measures have added two important legal rights that are of note to IP practitioners. Community registered design and Community unregistered design now join the ranks alongside the three legal rights which previously existed in this field: UK registered designs, UK unregistered design right, and artistic copyright. UK registered designs are now governed by the EU Designs Directive. Russell-Clarke & Howe on Industrial Designs brings together all the relevant sections of legislation for the UK and Europe for all the forms of design protection, including those covering tribunals and procedures. As the leading text in this field it provides you with a comprehensive treatise to all the law surrounding designs. The new edition provides an analysis of guidance on infringement of registered designs by the Court of Appeal in Procter & Gamble v Reckitt Benckiser, and covers the new law on protectability of designs as sculptures under the Lucasfilm Star Wars Helmets case. New to this edition, the final chapter covers countries where the registered design law is historically linked to that of the United Kingdom. This lets practitioners compare the design regimes in those countries to the current or historical laws and case law of the UK covered in earlier chapters. Countries featured include Australia, Hong Kong, India, Ireland and New Zealand.

A PRACTITIONER'S GUIDE TO WILLS
3d edition

Lesley King, Keith Biggs and Peter Gausden

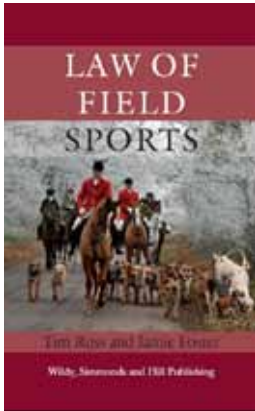

Consulting Editor: Meryl Thomas

Price: £59
ISBN: 9780854900725
Extent: 502 pp.
Size: 29 x 152 mm
Binding: Hardback & CD-ROM

The third edition of this popular title provides a practical and comprehensive reference for all those concerned in drafting and interpreting wills, and in giving effect to their provisions. The commentary is supported throughout by an extensive range of specimen clauses and model wills are provided in a separate appendix. All precedent material is included on the accompanying CD-Rom, enabling practitioners to adapt precedents for their own use.

Fully updated, A Practitioner's Guide to Wills features a new chapter on the use of Pilot Trusts and deals with the Mental Capacity Act 2005, Charities Act 2006 and Perpetuities and Accumulations Act 2009. It examines the impact of the legislative changes in recent years to tax planning, notably the new capital gains tax regime and the radical changes to the IHT treatment of trusts, particularly those affecting provision in wills for spouses and civil partners and children. The impact on planning and drafting is also considered, together with the role that the nil rate discretionary trust might still have to play in financial planning notwithstanding the introduction of the transferable nil-rate band between spouses and civil partners. The chapter on testamentary capacity has been fully revised in the light of the Mental Capacity Act 2005 and its effect on the application of the Banks v Goodfellow test as considered in recent cases including Re Perrins, Re Ritchie and Key v Key.

Lesley King is a solicitor, and a principal lecturer at the College of Law. Keith Biggs was formerly District Probate Registrar at Winchester, and is now a consultant on common form probate. Peter Gausden was formerly a principal lecturer at the College of Law. He is now a consultant solicitor at Rowlinsons. Meryl Thomas is Professor in Property Law at Birmingham City University, and Visiting Professor in Succession at the Institute of Law in Jersey

LAW OF FIELD SPORTS

Tim Russ and Jamie Foster

Price:	£35
ISBN:	9780854900695
Extent:	circa 160pp.
Size:	216 x 138mm
Binding:	Paperback

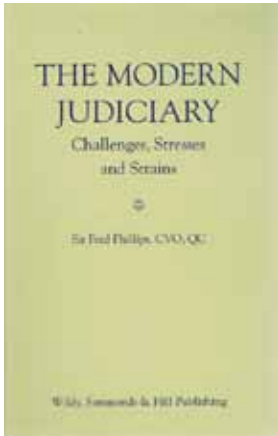

Written by leading practitioners in the field, Law of Field Sports is the first book on the Game Act 1831 for the best part of a century during which time there has been considerable reform of the law. This book contains a detailed analysis of the civil and criminal law relating to shooting and hunting and offers a practical evaluation of the Hunting Act 2004. The authors look at the law of poaching and control of shooting and hunting in terms of closed seasons and provide up-to-date precedents on the Ground Game Act 1880. A useful overview of pertinent firearms law is also included.

Land ownership of rural land is also covered so far as it relates to shooting and hunting, in particular the issue of how field sports rights are treated by the law of real property. The book also sets out the law appertaining to badgers, deer and other species managed in the countryside.

Law of Field Sports provides a comprehensive single source of reference that will prove invaluable for practitioners drafting game rights in sporting or farming leases, or defending those who might have fallen foul of the law and be facing prosecution in relation to game issues.

Tim Russ is a Partner with Clarke Willmott LLP. He specialises in agricultural property disputes including agricultural tenancy and related issues and has been recognised as an agricultural expert by the Chambers and Legal Experts directories. He is a member of the Agricultural Law Association, the Country Land & Business Association, and is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators.

Jamie Foster is a Senior Associate with Clarke Willmott LLP and specialises in regulatory law, advising and representing clients involved in environmental prosecutions, health and safety prosecutions and animal welfare cases.

THE MODERN JUDICIARY
Challenges, Stresses and Strains

Sir Fred Phillips, CVO, QC

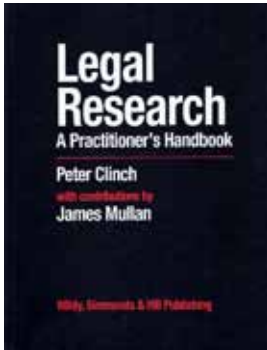

Price: £65
ISBN: 9780854900671
Extent: 302pp
Size: 229mm x 152mm
Binding: Hardback

This book examines the vocation of being a judge. It covers training, discipline and removal of judges as well as their position in the broader context as law-makers and servants of society.

The book is both comparative and practical while also examining the theory and jurisprudence of judging. It is full of practical examples drawn from the author's extensive experience and numerous contacts within the judiciary around the world. It examines their relationship to the societies they are representing and answerable to and their position and responsibilities as part of an international judicial brotherhood.

Although based in the Caribbean, the author is well known throughout the Commonwealth and in the United States as a writer on constitutional law and ethics.

Sir Fred Phillips is the former Governor, St. Kitts/Nevis/Anguilla and a Barrister-at-Law and member of the Middle Temple. He is the author of six books on constitutional law and ethics of the legal profession

LEGAL RESEARCH: A Practitioner's Handbook

Peter Clinch with contributions by James Mullan

Price:	£39
ISBN:	9780854900640
Extent:	450 pp
Size:	246 x 189mm
Binding:	Hardback

This comprehensive reference is specifically aimed at busy practitioners (solicitors, barristers and professional support lawyers), particularly those who do not have the benefit of access to a law librarian or information officer. Legal Research: A Practitioner's Handbook provides practical advice on every aspect of effective legal research: problem analysis, selecting and finding the best sources, and presenting results effectively.

Part A covers problem identification and analysis, followed by advice on how to select the best sources and formats (paper or electronic) for research. Part B deals with the information most frequently sought by practitioners, listing sources with analytical comments and, for a selection of the most complex, 'how to use' instructions developed to a standard template. Jurisdictional coverage includes England, Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland and the European Union, with the addition of information on key sources in European human rights and international law. Part C details sources on how to make the presentation of the results of legal research more effective.

Peter Clinch is Senior Subject Librarian for Law at Cardiff University and has trained law students, practising solicitors and law librarians in legal research skills. He devised and runs the award-winning Cardiff Index to Legal Abbreviations.

James Mullan is Knowledge Management Systems Manager for Field Fisher Waterhouse LLP. Previously he was an Information Officer at CMS Cameron McKenna LLP. He is a member of the British & Irish Association of Law Librarians (BIALL) council.

SMALL CLAIMS PROCEDURE
IN THE COUNTY COURT (5ed)
A Practical Guide to Mediation and Litigation

Patricia Pearl and Andrew Goodman

Price: £19.99
ISBN: 9780854900527
Extent: 309pp.
Size: 152mm x 229mm
Binding: Paperback

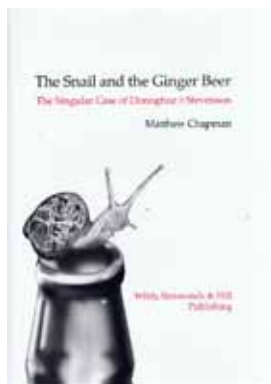

Legal professionals rarely receive any formal training or guidance on how to run a small claims case in the county court, while litigants in person often have to conduct such cases without legal representation. A lack of understanding of the rules frequently leads to confusion and mistakes, which in turn adds to expense and causes delay. The fifth edition of this popular title (formerly entitled Small Claims Procedure: A Practical Guide) will prove invaluable for busy practitioners and litigants in person alike, equipping them with the latest know-how on avoiding errors and making the most of the procedures that are available.

The mediation section of the book has special prominence in this edition. Litigants using the small claims track can now agree to have their cases diverted to a mediation service run by the Courts service and at no additional charge. The system has been in operation now for over a year and has proved popular with court users, especially litigants in person. This book sets out the scheme in detail together with practical tips on how to make the best use of this new service.

Updating material in this edition has been significant; of particular importance are the clarified rules on the date upon which court proceedings are served and the material which must be included in letters before action and other pre-action steps. Finally, the book has been made even more user friendly by improved cross-referencing, handy tables and an extensive glossary.

THE SNAIL AND THE GINGER BEER
The Story of Donoghue v Stevenson

Matthew Chapman

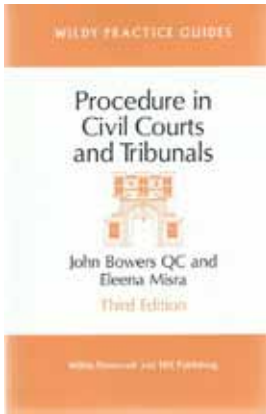

Price: £14.99
ISBN: 9780854900497
Extent: 200 pp.
Size: 152mm x 229mm
Binding: Hardback

On an August evening in 1928 May Donoghue, a shop assistant, entered a café in Paisley. The circumstances of her visit made legal history. A ginger beer was ordered for Mrs Donoghue who famously complained that, to her surprise and shock, a decomposed snail had tumbled from the bottle into her glass. Mrs Donoghue sued for the nervous shock she claimed to have suffered as a result. The question whether she had a case in law against the manufacturer of the ginger beer was argued as far as the House of Lords. It is hard to overstate the importance of the decision in Donoghue v Stevenson. It represents, perhaps, the greatest contribution made by English and Scottish lawyers to the development of the common law.

Donoghue v Stevenson made it clear that, even without a contract between the parties, a duty of care is owed by 'A' to take reasonable care to avoid acts or omissions which could reasonably be foreseen as likely to cause injury to his neighbour: 'B'. This concept, developed by the great jurist Lord Atkin, has become known by the universal shorthand, 'the neighbour principle'. Who, Lord Atkin asked rhetorically, is 'in law' my neighbour? Donoghue v Stevenson provides the answer.

The Snail and the Ginger Beer tells the full story of this remarkable case. It provides vivid biographical sketches of the protagonists and of the great lawyers who were involved in the case. It sets Donoghue v Stevenson in its historical context and re-evaluates the evidence. The roots of the neighbour principle are excavated in the parable of the Good Samaritan and the case law of the United States. The constitutional importance of the case is also dealt with; the blow it struck for a moral approach to the law which departed from a rigid doctrine of precedent. Finally, the book investigates the influence of Donoghue v Stevenson across the common law world: from the USA to the countries of what is now the Commonwealth.

Wildy Practice Guide Series
PROCEDURE IN CIVIL COURTS AND TRIBUNALS
3d edition

John Bowers QC and Eleena Misra

Price: £29
ISBN: 9780854900510
Extent: 116 pp.
Size: 216 x 138mm
Binding: Paperback

Formerly published as part of the popular Practice Notes series, Procedure in Civil Courts and Tribunals provides an accessible guide to litigation in the County or High Court, as well as providing a useful overview of some specialist tribunals e.g. the Employment Tribunal. Of particular interest to practitioners will be the chapter on appeals which includes up-to-date guidance on the applicable rules and practice direction, together with practical advice on appellate advocacy.

In addition to providing practical and comprehensive guidance on civil litigation, the authors give valuable insights into written and oral advocacy, witness statements and affidavits, case preparation and courtroom skills. Presented in a compact, user-friendly format, Procedure in Civil Courts and Tribunals also contains an array of helpful checklists which will prove invaluable to the busy practitioner.

John Bowers QC is one of the leading employment barristers in the UK, practising from Littleton Chambers. He has written over fifteen books, and is a frequent contributor to the Law Society Gazette, New Law Journal and Industrial Law Journal. He is a Recorder on the Midland Circuit and a former Chair of the Employment Law Bar Association.

Eleena Misra is an employment and commercial law specialist at Littleton Chambers. She is the co-author of Employment and Equal Opportunities (Atkin's Court Forms) and has contributed to several other employment law titles.

PARTNERSHIP AND LLP LAW

Elspeth Berry

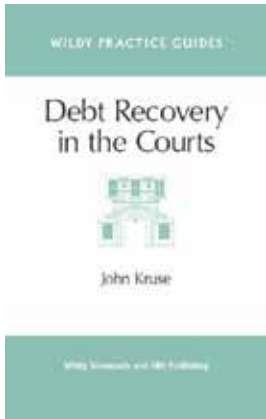

Price:	£29
ISBN:	9780854900602
Extent:	183 pp.
Size:	216 x 138mm
Binding:	Paperback

This book contains a mass of legal and practical information within a compact, user-friendly format. It provides a comprehensive and comparative explanation of the law relating to all three types of business partnership available under English law; general partnerships, limited partnerships and LLPs. Partnership and LLP Law explains the applicable law from formation of the business to termination, including chapters on the availability or otherwise of legal personality, duties of partners and members, management issues, property and finance, taxation, litigation and insolvency. It includes coverage of the Limited Liability Partnerships (Application of Companies Act 2006) Regulations 2009, which adapt and apply the provisions of the Companies Act 2006 to LLPs; and the Legislative Reform (Limited Partnerships) Order 2009, which introduces key reforms to limited partnership law.

The law relating to each of the three types of partnership is set out clearly and concisely to enable the reader to understand, or refresh their understanding of partnership and LLP law. This approach will also enable those with knowledge or experience of one type of partnership to understand the similarities and differences of the other types. A sample partnership/ LLP agreement is included within the book.

Elspeth Berry is a Senior Lecturer in Law at Nottingham Law School, with over fifteen years of experience in researching partnership and LLP law and teaching undergraduate and postgraduate students the law of business organisations and other commercial and international subjects. She is the co-author of European Union Law (2007) and Partnership Law (1999).
